NEW YEAR NEW OPPORTUNITIES!

As you must know by now, Omni International has a disposable, non-medical vinyl glove that contains our revolutionary new AMS anti-microbial technology. The OmniShield™AMS glove is designed for any non-medical purpose where a disposable vinyl glove would be used...food service, housekeeping, general purpose use, etc. Locations of sales include restaurants, supermarkets, hotels/motels, resorts, spas, hospital and nursing home kitchen and housekeeping departments. Creative thinking will bring an infinite list!

Yes, select medical distributors can sell our new AMS gloves in the acute and long term care food service operations. In fact, some are doing so today.

Our distributors who are selling the OmniShield™AMS anti-microbial gloves today are a very special breed. They ARE sales oriented. Their team members excel at "up selling" the customer to a better product in a world where many of their competitors are only trying to find the cheapest product for the customer. You should note that up selling usually takes hard work and good salesmanship, increasing benefits to both customer and distributor.

These special distributors are willing to buy-in, promote, market, educate and sell a product that is hot off the glove lines. And the AMS glove is a new technology, new glove at a slightly higher price than anything it competes with in its respective market.

These "pioneers" have been very supportive of Omni's new product line. Omni's sales team has worked with them and look forward to also working with you.

Omni has created several new Data Digest's that can assist you in presenting, showing and selling our new glove products. They are yours for the asking. Just contact your Omni Sales Representative and he/she will be delighted to send them your way.

By the way, for those distributors who sell food service / housekeeping gloves, we also have Data Digest's available for the NSF and general purpose glove products.
